Applicant's election of Species II ("energy balance" method) in the May 30, 2008 response is acknowledged. The election was made without traverse and all of claims 1-15 were identified as readable on the elected species. Applicant further asserted that EP 0470676 could apparently be sufficiently understood from reading the Abstract only or alternatively that applicant was under no obligation to provide a translation. The examiner is in the process of obtaining a translation at present and will make it available to applicant should applicant desire it. The examiner did not notice a second communication from the international search authority (different from the one referenced in the first office action) at the time the first office action was prepared and on that basis this restriction requirement is set forth. The examiner apologizes for any inconvenience or hardship caused by the ensuing delay.

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-8, drawn to a method of detecting an abnormality in a heat exchanger.

Group II, claim(s) 9-15, drawn to an apparatus for abnormality detection.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: according to the International Preliminary Examination Report (completed 04.02.2005) claims very similar to claims 1 and 9 presented here were found to be unpatentable over reference D1 (USP 5615733) for the reasons set forth on page 3 of the 409 form, incorporated here by reference. It therefore follows that the patentability of the method or apparatus will ultimately rest in some dependent claim which does not necessarily recite the same or corresponding special technical feature. For example, in claim 11, 12 and 13, the patentability of the apparatus is asserted to be in the fact that the heat exchanger is part of a vapor compression refrigeration system or heat pump and is part of a display cabinet, special technical features that are not found in any of the method claims 1-8.

Accordingly applicant must elect one of the Groups I or II for further prosecution.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Finally, the examiner is requiring copies (in English) of any claims indicated as allowable in the prosecution of any foreign application corresponding to the current one in response to this action to help understand the office actions by those foreign patent offices that applicant has already made of record here. If further rejections (beyond those of record already) have been made overseas, copies of those rejections are required as well.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to John K. Ford whose telephone number is 571-272-4911. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30.
